Issue 496
Date: September 10, 2009
Time: Thursday evening (8 pm)

Come forward as I link with you and as you are ready to move again into that greatest aspect of you - your greatest light form. Become aware of who you are in this aspect of light, love, truth, power and energy and all the energy systems that have enabled you to be what you are now and with all of your perceptions eagerly open and expecting change and information to come to you, come in to where we can be assembled in the entranceway to the station of light.

"It is here that we begin this transmission Beloved. Orem addressing you and indeed I am ready here to envelop you in the energy that I represent and bring forward to you from the infinite consciousness level where we communicate, into words for you to recognise the energy changes that have taken place and which you are immersed in.

We bring you again to come further into the communication chamber where you are completely immersed within the flows of energy and light and you may see this as light and colours.

If this is sufficient for you to acknowledge that you have moved into a different dimension, then so be it. If you still continue to seek for confirmation, then open yourself now to what you can experience on all levels of your senses, and you are a perceptive being. You are aware of changes in atmosphere, changes reflected to you in sound and other perceptions that you work with particularly clearly as an individual.

There is contained within your energy field and that aspect of you present here that we are addressing fully, all the perceptions and awareness on a multi dimensional level, in a way that you do not experience completely when you are grounded within your physical aspect. These dimensions that we bring you into contain different and expanded senses. Often you need to have permission to experience these senses. Permission from all that you belong to in the sense of a united consciousness level, for when you do accept the greater level of intensity of perceptions here, you realise that much of what you exist in and live as within the Earth dimension is not a true existence in terms of the infinite level of consciousness and creation. This is because in the limited perceptions that you experience in the third dimensional Earth, you are not able to create fully because you have been experiencing layers upon layers of restrictive emotions and thought patterns.

You have been with us in many transmissions where we have extended you the opportunity to rise beyond those limitations and be open to the fullness of creation. This is where you are at in this particular transmission in this particular aspect of the communication chamber. You are immersed in the fullness of the energy perceptions that you can acknowledge and take into yourself and therefore you can open another portal for you to experience life in an expanded realisation process. This means that the way you perceive the world around you will change and the people you meet up with you will perceive in an entirely different manner and so therefore you will be considering and treating each person in a different way. When you see the level of energy that is upon them and perhaps you will see where they are separated from the infinite creative source, then you perceive them in that way and you also can perceive the point of origin and the creative pattern for them for their blueprint to be activated fully within them and then they can take their part connected into the blueprint of creation upholding a higher order - uplifting many.

We understand this information you are experiencing here will be having an impact upon you, so we hold you paused here to experience the channels opening throughout you. Some of these you will feel you are being pulled forward to be greeted by other beings here, indeed as such that we acknowledge as those Star Elders."

"It is upon you in this state, change, and the flowingness of the blueprint as it comes around you and nurtures you and upholds you into another level is continuing to inspire you to become connected into the connected levels of consciousness - organisations you might refer to them as in your terminology - who are responsible for the change and who are at present drawing people through open portals who have accepted their right to know more and to come into the clear pattern of life for them. This is upon you and you have come to realise that you indeed have changed in this recent pattern and the happiness and joy you are experiencing is the result of that change and moving in and accepting the energy impulses.

This change that is upon you is effecting the upliftment of this part of the universe in which Earth is present. It is greater than what you know as this planet you are on. Because of the infinite variations that have existed within levels of consciousness, it is beyond time, this change that we refer to.
