Issue 501
Date: October 15, 2009
Time: Thursday afternoon 3 pm

Again I open the link for you to come together with me, as a focus, for us to gather once more, leaving behind the physical form, focusing our attention into a much greater energy form and system, and together we can move forward into the vessels of light, into our command station that we have been introduced to. Here we wait to be received by the Elders, or the beings of light who would come forward to assist us at this time.

“Greetings to you Dear One. Orem speaking to you again as I come forward and meet you and oversee your progress and draw you into this state of consciousness where you are more conscious than indeed in your daily activities where so much is of unconscious creation. Here we separate you from this to come forward to be of more service in this level and to continue the initiation of the greater codes within you.

Are you ready to come with me into our greater communication level, our assembly area here. There are many points of arrival for you over many times when you would present yourself again through this particular portal and in many ways in your individual journeys of light.

Here we are always welcoming of you and there is the pathway established for you to link in here.

There is greatness upon you in the sense of opportunities presented and here also is the established framework where you can understand many thoughts you have had and questions you have had will come together in this energy system and you will see why those thoughts have been with you or you will receive explanations. This works because you have established the questioning and seeking and therefore the energies are drawn to you in response.

You have seen many earth changes around you and these continue. There is an opening within the earth structure and in this way there is the presence felt of the alteration in the system within the components of the earth's crust and its substance. If you have been feeling disjointed and a shifting within you, this is because you are responding to what the Earth-being is experiencing. You will also find in your self a deeper sense of attunement to the Earth, but through that you should be sensing the deeper sense of attunement to the universal impulses and indeed a straightening out and moving forward in accordance with that pathway that you move into when you attune to your point of origin existing beyond time and space.

This in many of your visions and realisations is increasing and more easily available to you to experience within its many levels. When you do experience this and are drawn into the greater level of consciousness and the interconnections, you will find you are able to breathe more freely and to come quite clearly into the position that has been here for you to reconnect with.

So you will be finding in this transmission a new sense of your self and how you have developed and where you will be moving to. Consequently there is a greater decisiveness within you.

When you come into this level, aware that you have been uplifted and are receiving directions and receiving the energy that you have been expecting to receive for yourself and others, then you are indeed ready to become more conscious of who is assembled with you and how you will be working in a sense in your individual position as part of this connected network of beings.

You are strongly involved in the movement of the Earth as we gather you up and present you into the greater vibrations around you manifesting as the cities of light. For a moment here you will be drawn into particular establishments and experience this settling around you and the sense you will have of what is taking place for you.

There is a direct linkage of this space into your earth life. The patterns there must change, must give you more freeing up where you can choose where to go and what to do and using the alignment of your thoughts with your point of origin changes the activities you do. When you feel you are displaced and out of time, there is great activity occurring in the dimensional field where you are focused. This will be continuing for some time, but always you must remain connected to the earth life. There is energy adjustment occurring through you and your connection into the earth life. In your earth life, maintain a greater sense of allowance, whereas it becomes very easy to judge another. You understand the power you have and if you become in judgement then your thoughts and words are imposing on that other person. When you find yourself in that state you must come back to the inner sense of your connection and order, and allow that vibration to go out from you. This leads you forward into a position where you can sense a new order forming for all that is around you. Do you see how this is relevant for your commitment and work - your service - into the universe as it presents itself to you. The more you go within and stand within the power, the more action occurs in the outer levels of your radiant energy field.
