Issue 503
Date: October 29, 2009
Time: Thursday afternoon 4 pm

As you still your mind and open your heart to connect in to the energy of the transmissions, I can bring you forward, I can meet with you in our bodies of light, in the greater connections that we have in consciousness, always, and then you can be ready to step forward with me and I bring you into the receiving area of the station of light.

You are well used to coming here, so it is a quick journey, yet if you still find you have trouble separating yourself from the world around you, close your eyes and imagine that you step into a beam of light that draws you immediately to this station for this purpose, even though you may link in in different ways and different visualisations for a meditation. This is for the purpose of receiving the newer information in the energy impulses through the great Brotherhood of Light. So, we wait here as a great group.

"Welcome to you all and to each. Orem greeting you here at this stage and so it is that a further transmission is ready to come to you. Are you ready to receive such transmission? To be ready you need to be fully aligned, open mind and open heart and eager to absorb what is given to you in the way of the energy. We understand many of the words mean nothing to you as an individual. As a group and from time to time as you re-listen to the messages, you will find a particular phrase that is most important to you. We would ask you to keep in mind the messages are a living energy system for you.

You have been receiving much in preparation even since the previous transmission to this one. Many of you felt withdrawn from the world, and needed to be so as you understood what was given to you. The messages do prepare you for the transformation that you are undergoing and we would always give you the amount of energy that you can absorb and which will reveal to you the changes about you in the world.

At this stage we draw you into the communication chamber itself so that we can establish your connection to the greater energy systems of the universal matrix here, so feel upon you a change in the energy, a change in the substance even in this space that you register around you, and this you bring into the awareness around your body form.

You will need to be ready to assemble in the appropriate times when you are called. The readiness is a matter of laying aside many of the material aspects of your life to step forward within the light and indeed you will understand this fully when it is upon you, when it is before you and around you.

Many civilisations have gone through this similar process of upliftment to another degree of consciousness and in the dimensional field that you are drawn into, you immediately adjust to the focus around you and you would feel even in the present that you change from day to day.

You will be delivered into the energy systems appropriate for you to work in and exist in. The emphasis is always to have you focus purely into the highest order that you can maintain and understand and promote within your own unit. This identifies the space that you will be drawn into.

You will feel the adjustments occurring again around you and if you are prepared in this moment to lay aside any disturbances that you have had in your present lifetime, you will change to that same degree where you activate in you the synchronicity of your energy systems to that state of consciousness where you have known you are already operating as the greatness of your self. And this draws to you many states of consciousness that you have been exposed to and experienced, therefore strengthening what you are in this presentation.

Absorb. Absorb. Absorb, is the message in this transmission to you. The portal opening around you through this absorption process presents again the Star Elders to you."

"The focus for you here Beloved is transportation across the various levels of time frames around where you exist in your physicality into an unfolding movement of change. In change there is already established the new identities and the new activities and spaces for you.

Again this is presented to you and will be presented to you because this ensures that you are comfortable in these spaces.

You will identify yourself more and more in particular ways as you are with us here but also present in some way that differs from the knowledge that you have been exposed to in the evolutionary process of your present physical state. As you open to realise what this is, this manifests it for you. The energy is drawn into you and as you perceive what is presented to you then this materialises for you.

There are states of presentation here and many of it we know will not be necessary for you to experience or witness. It is sufficient for you to have the knowingness that what you feel is opening through the universe is supportive in every way for the existence of the establishment of the new way of life for this planetary being.

Many groups have come into alignment in assisting this process for you and as you identify with particular beings and structures here, this is where you are changed. Your substance changes and the aspect of your self will change. It is a refinement process so therefore it is improvement, clarifying for you, and in this state there is no distance between what we bring you into here where you already are being it.

The energy patterns of this reveal to us the becoming of you to this state of awareness, of consciousness, of realisation.

With this infilling you we restore you to Messenger Orem. The energy he presents you with will bring this into a stable condition around you. It is."

"Orem speaking to you again here Beloved. You indeed contain this aspect of consciousness which the Star Elders described to you through the framework of your words and you will feel the extension beyond the words of this state and the intention of all of these transmissions, and when you are ready, as we brought you forth to this transmission, you embrace that.

Within your earth frame work there are many groups established in communication around the entire system who are working with the manifested new components. These components are part of the crystalline structure and it is through these that the cities of light materialise in aspects as there are particular openings and portals close to those who have the resonance with them. Many of your technical and scientific people understand this and they work in the intuitive states of consciousness where all is seen as a greater outcome.

What is presented to you through your news stories and through the diversions created is only a layer of reality. With your focus through the transmissions and drawing you into your true life pattern, you experience many other realities. Parts of you already exist in them. So, there is still the separation to be experienced and moved through until it is that you are gathered together and at that time you do celebrate the upliftment and the establishment of this order through the universe.

This is the intention in this transmission this day to you, and I accompany you all back to the receiving portal here.

Thank you for your attendance in this space.

Orem out."

Orem hands the focus back to me now and I draw you all back to your individuality.

So, you have become greater than you were before you entered into this transmission space. You should feel the energy throughout you. You should feel the lines of communication going around the planetary system and beyond into different spaces, and the connections that you have with other life forms, conscious with you and very close with us. This will be maintained until we do pass through the portals that we are told about.

I know you will have experienced the moving forward through the energy systems when you focus on your point of origin and the great blueprint for you.

Now, become conscious that you will take a big breath into you so that all the new patterns go into the activity through taking in the breath into the bloodstream and throughout you.

Thank you Orem and the Star Elders for this transmission.

We are now grounded to bring the energy into the earth matter. Thank you.

I close this transmission through the Omega Communications portal.
