Date: December 03, 2009
Time: Thursday evening 8 pm

Do you hear the calling? Do you hear the pulling? Do you feel you are standing and being drawn backward within your self, within your light self, within this immense powerful being that you are which comes forward as you consciously connect with it, waiting for you to be centred and within so that then the great light self part of you will depart and move forward into the pattern of energy which speaks to you in a great universal communication. In this way we are gathered up and I lead you forth to be with us within the receiving area of the station of light.

Here there are other spaces where people are being assembled, just as we are, and it may seem that our group expands, greater than what we have seen before in the numbers visiting here and being drawn in and you will be aware that in these other entranceways more people are being assembled through different layers and a different stream of energy and collection way. So, we know from this that something is happening, in a greater extended way. We wait here to be greeted.

“Indeed. Greetings to you Beloved. Orem speaking here and I quickly collect all of you and gather you into my embrace and draw you into our communication chamber. Be strong and be steady in this space and allow the sense of your self to be filled with an idea of your function and the importance of being conscious of the changes, conscious of the huge impact of energy that is upon you all in recent days and in the phases ahead of you and around you.

There is much to be given in this communication and so you are prepared for this. Some of you have been waiting and wanting to hear more and to know more and the energy at this time comes to increase the vibration of the essence of you, and as this occurs, on the physical plane dimension you would find you are vibrating to a different light frequency and around you there is a shift in the energy and you are being changed. You are able to see the way through the patterns around you, assessing them from a viewpoint of a distance - and that distant viewpoint is as you reconnect to your point of creation, to your origin and therefore to that aspect of you that also assists you to come forward into the area that you have already achieved the change - that aspect is here with you waiting for the reconnection with you, and also this then brings you forward at a faster pace.

Changes have been initiated within you in different ways over many phases and there have been long-standing patterns of change upon you and you have realised that you followed a sense of purpose all through your existence and you have reconnected with it strongly at times and at other times it is not there as a prime focus for your life, but now we say you have been reconnected to that for the prime purpose to prepare you, so that at the point where you are all gathered and you are ready to step off into a greater existence and to be enhanced and to be able to draw upon the energy of manifestation to stabilise even the ground around you - then this is the time when you will remember much of what has been given to you in these transmissions. You are prepared to step forth into the flow of energy. You would feel that we are excited to bring this to you at this time. We convey to you that great sense of joyous celebration as we remind you of these changes in the patterns.

We spoke at times of the great intersections within the dimensional flows and the unfolding of those and the revelations to you of the passageways through dimensions and this is about this same presentation to you in this unfolding aspect of the dimensions. We can see that you are ready to move forward. In moving forward the space that you leave from must be filled with this energy that you are moving forward into. It must be, as it were, ahead of you and behind you, above you and around you and through you and as we give this representation to you it is all about reminding you that there is no time. There is the present existence, where there is fulfilment and there is also the establishment of the ordered pattern of existence. During this transmission you may have the sense of being refitted and reconnected throughout you and when you open and allow this process to occur, you will feel that it is moving throughout you in such a way that there is a process of repair and a process of ignition of some aspects of you that encompass many of the cellular structures and many of the functions of consciousness as they encompass the aspects of what you are.

Alongside what I am speaking of to you is the movement where you are being surrounded in a sphere of light as a group entity and so some of you will be aware that you have gone into a different space. This is for specific training of patterns of you and your actions and thoughts - training so you understand the movement of life and the way of existence that you are present in and there are different groups and beings surrounding you in this process.
