Issue 510
Date: December 17, 2009
Time: Thursday evening 8 pm

I link with you for the final transmission for 2009, a year when we have come together many times and moved forward into many different areas beyond our personal space, and been accepted through many different portals that have given us connections and reconnections to greater parts of ourselves. It has been a year of expansion and as we link for this final message, stand in your power, link completely with the higher aspects of yourself and bring all parts of you into connection, deliberately, with the highest element of creation that you can connect with consciously at this stage. One that comes through from your point of origin - your source - and from your point of origin you came forth to be amongst the people in this lifetime. You came forth to be within the current circumstances. You came forth knowing what to do to assist other people and you came forth expecting the help, which has come. Now come forth with me to connect into the station of light - the receiving area - which somehow seems warm and filled with many people happy to be at this point also in their journey. And we wait together.

“Greetings and welcome to you all. Orem speaking to you here. Again we are grateful to have this opportunity to address you in this way - a way that has developed over your lifetime in the current phase where you can receive the messages in many different ways; through your texts and through your voice recordings and also through your inner links in your own connections when you open up to receive the inner communications. All this has evolved just as you would want it to be, and this is important to realise.

Many things you can bring into being for you when you realise there is a better way and a higher pathway and pure energy to come forth. So, with this I bring you all together as a group into the communication chamber and here in this time there is much laughter and joyfulness within the hearts of all, because we are speaking of a time that has begun when you would expect to be uplifted together, instantly transformed in every way that you would desire to be transformed into. Here it is that you have experienced the ways of manifestation and you have experienced the ways of peace and expansion with your connection to the power within your blueprint as it connects both to your point of origin and to the greater blueprint for this particular planetary system and the blueprint for creation, as it is.

We have separated you many times from the stresses and the conditions created in the earth space. Now we assemble you to take part in embracing all that is within the earth space, with no judgement, just embracing within your loving arms, within your lovingness and joyfulness, because, as you do this, and you are already connected to your point of origin, the energy draws through into you and deeply into the conditions within the earth space.

There will be a settling occur. For a time you have been experiencing disturbances and a restlessness within you each.

Part of you has been seeking understanding and seeking the higher energy to resolve conditions and as you have been working in the higher aspects of your self in the greater frequencies of light you have been experiencing a disjointedness as the connections into your daily life continue and these have been influenced by the resistances which occur within the consciousness generally of the planetary system such as yours going through change, going through people's fear which, as you know, limits all creation, until there is the discernment into that construct that is fear and you make the deliberate focus to move beyond that, to trust.

As you experience that, you will have been feeling the shift within you and yes, alignment created by the frequency of that word symbol to you.

We are going to move with you through a passage of time. The passage of time is defined of course through measurement, through the rotation of earth and the reflections of the different planetary bodies and systems around it. When we move you through time, we are taking you through a journey of experience, parts of which will be familiar to you and other parts you are going into a different reality. Stay with us as a group with all others, because you will be witnessing a turning and this is part of the turning of the planetary station of earth, but the time you are journeying through will bring you to see the settling which will occur after that turning and it is meaningful to you to experience this and to understand that the change that will be occurring you will hardly register because your focus in consciousness will be in a state just as it is in this journey with us in this transmission, where you are beyond a great deal of the physical sensations that you would experience in a journey, and yet you know you have travelled distance, in linear distance and distance in the way that your attitude changes with experience and realisations.
