Time: Thursday evening 8 pm

In the stillness we settle ourselves. In the stillness we become aware of the greater energy field extending outward from ourselves, linking us all together in person in closeness in the group and with the people throughout the Earth linking in in whatever time and place that you are. We become one unit. We become strengthened by knowing there are others moving, walking, together into the same area and so in consciousness we are already connected to the greater realms and already working as part of the greater, wider consciousness of the universe.

I gather you together to renew our connections with the vessel of light and the commanders and with Orem, and so we go into the receiving area of the command station, seeing it before you and around you. Seeing it as if you move to it at a distance until it becomes around you where you are. The connection is stronger than it has been.

"In this space I greet you and welcome you Beloved. Orem addressing you and moving amongst you and seeing the change and the growth and the increase in awareness and I encompass you in my love at this time and I would remind you that you are separate from the earth life when you connect in, in this way, and yet you are also connected strongly into the unified field of consciousness that brings about evolution within all of your energy space.

We speak on this and we will refer to this many times in our reconnections together as we experience the unfoldments and I bring you to realise and understand what is happening for you in your experience.

In the timing in the interval between our gatherings you have had many changes occur physically and energetically for you. Some of these you would have thought related to change in atmosphere or related to occurrences physically around the planet. Some of the changes will have been resulting from an energetic shift and an opening in the trans-dimensional linkages. These have been occurring in this interval between our coming together and the messages in the energy systems being delivered to you, so we find that even though you were not physically gathered as one group in this way where I can address you, you have been drawn into meeting spaces. You have all had the glimpses of shafts of energy around you that have drawn you forward and upward. This has been intense and then you may have found you were greatly disturbed and out of synchronisation with the energy stream you know so well that strengthens you.

This brings up the necessity to reconnect and step into the streams of energy.

Reinforced within your energy systems and blueprint now imposed upon you through the greater dimensional openings is a greater matrix which overlays you all.

This in turn is feeding the blueprint system and it is existing you might say above the blueprint in a very connected way that you must now take the opportunity to come into that state of existence, embracing it in all parts of you. As you do that in your own energy systems you are embracing life around you. You embrace every action within that increased sensitivity and creativity of that matrix and the matrix itself seems to speak to you.

You may feel it vibrating through you as I bring your attention to it. It has a different texture and a resonance which of course you are feeling throughout you. This is moving you so that you bring the planetary station into an alignment that allows a procedure to take place that moves you all into a deeper understanding and consciousness, so that you come to witness the changes in relationship to how your physical cells exist and change as they are exposed to this greater energy that you embrace.

This moves to a deeper level of the activity of the codes within you, so that we would say that you have come into a clearer alignment space. Indeed you may feel you are on the outer edge of your existence and remember we have brought you to this state to experience this in other transmissions. Each phase you go through that expands you further, you come to this sensation of coming to the outer limit of your awareness and consciousness state and then you are in an open receiving position for this connection to work fully around you.

We bring you many times to experience the shifts in energy and give you the opportunity again to release the resistance, to come into this state open eyed in amazement of what you feel you can achieve - and live your life within that eagerness to achieve the greatness, to bring it into your being and therefore into all of your life pattern.
