Issue 514
Date: February 11, 2010
Time: Thursday evening 8 pm

I open the portal of this group connection and call you forth, gently disengaging from your physical form and from all the activities you have been undertaking, leaving you free to come forward eager to receive the next transmission, eager perhaps to feel what is being put in place for you and for this area. So, we gather together, sending a call out across the planet to everyone who links in with these messages and together we approach the vessel of light, and there is an opening there, calling us in. A space to be received. So, we begin.

"In this space I welcome you. Orem here with you and indeed I draw you all in together as if you have come from streams distributed all around your Earth station. Some of you have come from the energy from within the Earth and some of you have come in your dream state, yet you heard the calling for the gathering to take place.

So, come, open in mind and heart to joyfully receive the patterns contained through the messages and contained through the impulses and the unfolding universe as it encompasses you through this way and through many other ways.

We know indeed of course that you can take these messages and work them in alongside other studies and your own receiving of the infinite messages and all will lead you, as you hold the intention, to become that spirited being of light, all ready and in attunement with the evolvment here for you.

Sometimes we need to remind you of the steps you have undertaken and the commitment you have made to yourself and to your life, and when you see others who have no such commitment, let your heart go forth to them and be firm in your own heart to your purpose and to all that has driven you to maintain the awareness of the pattern of Earth in accordance with the blueprint of the greater universe - and that encompasses the particular energy system that Earth is part of and it encompasses a greater unfoldment of consciousness, indeed. And we speak of this to you many times.

We gather you forward to come into the greater assembly area and here indeed you may be sensing the grand auditorium that is here. We have many with us, we may speak as one voice - many speaking as one voice to you, including this messenger and including many others that are used in this way. Depending on the level of your perception, you may perceive the various beings addressing areas gathered in this space. It is all happening at one in this moment so that all who are connected in here will achieve a certain level of connection deeper within you than you have experienced, and yet it seems to separate you from each other individual present so that you feel the whole focus is upon you, and you are in a great universe here.

Also understand coming in around you in this focus is what we have brought to your attention as the matrix of light. Also in attendance are those who speak to you through that overall matrix."

"We come in a sense to supervise what you have begun to assemble within you and to embrace and out of this greater matrix you will sense that there is a coming together of many aspects of creation necessary to be implemented so that many people in their dream states who are receiving instruction can be brought up to a level where you are receiving this on a conscious level as you listen to this. We need to have a balanced level of attainment of receptivity of the energy through this matrix and then there is, as it is called, a threshold achieved which allows you to proceed in a much more precise and focused way to manifest your life in the planes of being that are upholding you already, protected and separated from many great changes occurring in the energy systems on Earth.

Your human mind would say 'what about those ones who were not so protected and uplifted?' There are many reasons for the exchange of one physical form into the next pattern of life for occurrence and life is not merely to be considered the physical humanity form. Life embraces experience and the journey of consciousness through experiences.

As we speak to you about your focus here and joining the threshold ready to step into the manifested higher order of life, you will have the sense that we are telling you that you can exist in both worlds and this will continue for much of the time and then if it is necessary for you to be transferred into this greater matrix and the cities of light, then it will occur easily for you. This greater life that we speak about already encompasses the entire Earth station and yet it is existing as a focus in particular pockets where it is able to be assembled through the intersections of the energy patterns in the matrix, and there are other places it will not be visible or felt because certain densities preclude the manifestation of the more purified and enriched life that is focused on expansion and reconnection into the life pattern of the universe.
