Date: February 25, 2010
Time: Thursday evening 8 pm

As we begin this session I feel around me a vortex of energy and you may be aware of this around you individually, spinning, coming in around you, and the vortex - the point of it - is at your feet. The energy is so strong that you are in the middle of this spinning vortex. This serves the purpose in this meeting to transport you rapidly into the receiving area of the Command Station.

So, adjust to the space that you are taken into. You may feel the energy to be so strong that it disturbs your sense of balance around your head, so be still and focus on a light within your forehead. This will stabilise you as we wait to be greeted.

"In this space I come forward and greet you. Orem speaking to you here, We also bring forward necessary messengers and speakers who support this introduction in this way that you have experienced. The rapid transition that you undergo at times such as this delivers you in a sense immediately away from where you were positioned on Earth.

This experience was given to you deliberately so that you would understand that in a greater sense, if it was necessary to transport you in any way, it would occur in such a fashion as this spinning vortex for you.

As we have gathered you here in such a way, we have also uplifted many from a different space around your planet. You may sense that these beings, while they are new to this form of message and energy system, have known about the presence of beings from other dimensional systems. These ones you might say are ancient races, some of whom have been separated from the movement of evolving humankind and they continue to exist, sensing the tides in the movement of energy even though some of these beings have no contact with large bodies of water and they come from dry environments where they have been able to maintain their existence isolated from the disturbance of the intelligence that has moved into an age of power-driven modalities. These beings now we welcome.

We would say to you that in your dream time and in your histories passed forth from one to another, you have been told about the coming forth into the land of man of beings such as you have not witnessed before and we may appear to you as a bright light. We do have form. We can exist as human form indeed and show ourselves to you. You would see the light around us and this is for you to recognise, and you will hear these words within your mind systems. The language as spoken is changed from what you would recognise. It is the intention of the message and you will see the visions that are appropriate to be shown to you which will amplify to you the importance of this contact with you.

We gather you all together here into our communication chamber and here all of you stand in a grand circle.

In the midst of the circle we are with you as a focal point for you to experience the energy which passes out as if it were from the central point of a wheel, or a sphere in this case, for some of you will be aware that you are above and others aware in a sense that you are below the centre of this presentation here to you. What we bring to you is a greater point of energy-light system. You have been prepared for this in many ways to the point that at times you have felt you have taken in a sacred substance, a sacred element, a sacred liquid or food, or you have experienced holding a sacred object containing a vibration such that it expands your consciousness and you seemingly travel forth into a different universe.

This universe is maintained within your own existence, but the higher frequencies brought to you open your awareness to those other existences and you feel that you have expanded and grown and you have been moved into another living space indeed, separate and apart from the Earth planet station.

All of this, as we bring it to you, is moving and settling into spaces within your own energy systems in your light form and therefore deeply into the presentation of your physical form in its wellness and the energy brings you into the sensation of wholeness and a more substantive way of living. Substantive in the way that you have drawn into you many strengths appearing indeed as a different being coming forth through you. This is the strength of the energy that has filled you. All of you are taking this into you at this point and if you allow it, it will also continue the expansion out of you and the release from you of some of the distant echoes of experiences that have remained around you.

We speak about a different phase that you have entered into and to be wholly committed in such a way necessitates the release of the old patterns, so in willingly accepting this frequency pattern you are already leaving behind this distant experience so that you can be wholly fitted and committed into this particular frequency contained within this greater matrix supporting you, around you. We would ask of you to feel it around you, to feel that it opens spaces within your mind pattern and therefore all around you, as the mind encompasses you entirely.

If there has been any doubt within your mind remaining that there has been no change, this will bring to you confirmation in a way that you will recognise and you will see. We mention to some of you the close attention you paid to the lattice work that you would draw within your mind or onto some form of paper and you were configuring a pattern that was present within your knowledge and in thinking about the lattice pattern, you made your whole body system open to receiving that. What this is called is the matrix and it is a pattern that exists, while it overlays all around you, it exists in minute detail throughout you and throughout all living energy systems within the creative manifested universe. And that is an expression of a completeness of creation.

In focusing on one universe, you move into a state where you recognise within one there is a wholeness.

As we hold you in this centre in this great sphere within the communication area, there is a shifting around you again and you may feel this as the patterns flow as if they are a tidal flow, or energy that is sent through a network and eventually it connects up all points together. Experience this moving around you and experience yourself being enclosed in a great sphere with all of these many beings present with you. This is so vast you may not be able to perceive the limits, for indeed if you visualise the Earth planet as this sphere we speak about, you would not see all of the beingness as it is, because of the vastness.

Now we bring your attention again back through the centre here, through the centre of the Earth as it were, but if you travel into the centre of the Earth you are still within this communication chamber. So - the presence is felt and the energy is present everywhere.

There is a progression within what we have you experience and each word and each link up is necessary. The energy within all of this supports you and also defines you as one that is entering into this service system and you are recognising your position or your presence within the wholeness.

We bring your attention again to this great circle of beings that you are and as this transmission comes to its completeness for this message, we allow you to disperse and we bring you back to the greeting space. For a moment you may glimpse and see clearly your planet, this particular home for this particular cycle of your life experience and into this space will come in your vision the many supporting energy vessels.

We have come forward within the greater matrix that surrounds you in this part of the universe.

We leave you now at this stage until we meet up again to continue the progression. Be strong within the great energy system.

My love is with you.
Orem out."

Lani speaking to you now. Thank you Orem. Thank you for this great opening and experience.

I address you each and call you back to Earth, this time descending gently of your own accord, going through different layers which you may recognise and sense that are part of your physicality here, almost as if you are going through different cycles of your life, different ages and stages known to you and remembered by you, all part of you now although they may seem like different lifetimes. They are all of what you are now and you have been spoken to as that which you are and which you experienced in this journey.

Remember to breathe deeply as you become anchored once more through the soles of your feet and the energy system through your feet, underneath, connecting you into the Earth.

Come back renewed in your commitment. Come back in great health and a sense of worthiness.

I close this transmission through the Omega Communications portal. Thank you.

Lani
