I open the Omega Communications portal to gather you in, so come forward in your higher consciousness, being aware of all that is around you here. Come forward as the fully operational being of light that you are. Come forward with me as we enter within that space known as the receiving area within the vessel of light.

It seems we are under pressure - continual pressure upon us that we feel through the changes in the earth, through the changes in other people around us, through what is required of us. Let us now bring all our stresses and desires into this place, for assistance, for guidance, perhaps for nothing at all apart from just to be in the energy here.

"Orem speaking to you hear Beloved. Indeed I greet you and welcome you in all your states of consciousness, in all the memories and all the information that you contain as part of you, the essence of you that you bring forward here into this gathering place.

We draw forward the element that is you as a light being who can readily observe what is occurring around you and can readily observe the trueness within the energy flows here and therefore can have the opportunity to feed those into you through all the layers of your being in a process as it unfolds. For now, gather around you all your friends and loved ones - all people that you would care for - and bring them with you into our central communication space, travelling here through whatever vehicle you may feel you need to arrive in this space, being here in your fullness. Being here to experience the peace and upliftment. This is the energy of this space. It is also present here a way of informing you of change. Informing you of what you can bring forth and informing you of the greater flows of energy which dynamically stretch you into a greater position and in so doing you will find that there is a shift within you - a relocation perhaps you may find - and in that relocation and shifting process you realise that you have a greater vision, you have a greater sense of strength and purpose and this allows you to progress and to receive a greater amount of energy.

With energy coming into you, renewing processes, you feel that you are receiving a lot and that you have work to do. Do not let this burden you in the sense that it is a greater commitment and responsibility put upon you without any assistance. Feel, rather, that it is here offered to you as the opportunity to take the energy to undertake everything that is needed to support you in your life and in that way you are strengthened for all aspects of creation. You are strengthened also in the sense that you can link and communicate with a greater field and presence of beings who have a greater task, which includes uplifting you and all around you. Feel this happening as we bring this information to you.

Many of you are involved in very intricate processes on the earth-plane, some of which you may find you are attempting to break new ground, in a way that you have not experienced recently. The energy is always given to you to understand the relationship of what you are doing physically and mentally in conjunction with the greater outworking and unfolding of the universe as it speaks to you and all new processes that you put into being and create then add to the whole, to bring forward the new ideas and a smoother way of working.

Remember to draw upon the energy that is contained with every spoken command and request. Remember that it is the energy that is required which will reveal itself to you in new actions and ways to achieve actions. There are many of you who need to hear this at this time. There are many of you also involved in the process of restoring essential functions throughout the planetary being and throughout individual beings. The energy again is there to fulfill these tasks.

There is great opinion shared on what is to occur for this planetary station and its surrounding elements within this aspect of the universe that you know exists closely around planet Earth. You must begin to unfold the expression within you where you encompass all that is within the Earth station and its surroundings in a new light of understanding and revelations concerning the position of this universe known to you.

With the shift and expansion of perspective, you will begin to see that there are measurements of energy systems that the Earth is encompassed in which are changing. This relates you might say to temperature, to measurement of volume, to measurement of containment of certain elemental forces and when you look with a greater perspective, there is a change in the organism that is the Earth planet as a living being.
