Date: April 29, 2010
Time: Thursday afternoon pm

Here we are again together, initially connecting in a very physical way as I reach out to touch you and connecting in the greater communion level where already we have moved together and we stand as a strong unit working in many ways throughout this dimension and perhaps in many other dimensions that often we are unaware of. For this transmission I connect with you and draw you with me into the receiving chamber - a great space where as we assemble our energies are adjusted and our perceptions are adjusted to receive at this level. This prepares us to open to the greater level of information given to each of us.

"Orem greeting you here. Beloved. As we begin, become aware of the greater force of energy around you - a life force that many of you have become deficient in, because there is a lessening in this life force in everything that you are exposed to materially and physically. It seems as if there is a weakening in that field of energy that nurtures you and you need to be conscious of this.

At the times that you feel you have lessened your vibration these are the times for you to reach out and connect as we have been bringing you into the greater connected grid - the greater matrix of life energy that is the greater universe.

This we see travelling throughout you now as you open to this, recognising the importance, recognising the flows as they move through you, and here we move together into the greater communication chamber.

In this space you may sense that you are in a different presentation. You may sense you are within the midst of a great ocean of energy. You may sense you are in the vibrant energy of a forest. You may sense you are clearly enclosed in a dome of protective energy. These things are upon you. These help you to accept the spaces that we go into, remembering that they are all of this greater energy matrix.

When you come to recognise this space within the communication chamber level and see it as a great supporting living station, then you are able to more easily understand the connection into the cities of light. These places that are ready for you to come into. These places that we bring you into. These places that you are seeing in different ways around you as you connect into the field of energy upon you.

During this interval between transmissions you have been responding to messages within the greater dimensional frequencies given to you and you have been processing the interchange of energy that occurs at that level of connection between what you are putting out and asking for and what you are exposed to in the higher frequency levels, and what is being passed into you through the channels of light. There is indeed the processing and there can be disturbances within you. You are able to adjust to the higher powers that come to you in the way that you gently accept the higher information and you allow yourself to release from you information that is outdated, information now that you have received new insights within the energies. It is that you are not just this person that you know yourself to be. You are now working in a corresponding level in a group of beings who are participating consciously serving all of this planetary system and station. People, in you have parts that are adapting and moving in a very technical way to the energy, bringing in new devices, a new calculation and recipe, for you would understand that all energy can be recognised in forms of equations, or forms of digits - a code, if you like, that has been established that you recognise within you. Others of you are seeing this as new music to bring into being, and others are saying I have new words to express. This is all because you have expanded and you are receiving consciously higher ways of living.

You can allow yourself to feel excited about this change and expansion. Also, you must recognise there are beings who are transitioning out of their physical form and you must farewell them with love, acknowledging their own journey they are on, acknowledging that there are others to take their place and to carry forth a clearer way of light and living, for you will see you learn from every person you connect with and touch. You can understand where there has been a deviance from the pathway of light and the information processing that you now align yourself to. Any alteration of your pure level of light brings up disturbances in all the relevant systems that maintain the physicality. And what have these transmissions been for, but to bring you into alignment always with the power that changes you and brings you forward into the new levels of existence to these inspirational levels, the inspiration you might say as your inbreath receiving the precise amount of information to keep you cleansed and aligned and moving forward into the light.

You are coming into how you recognise you have lived and worked in many other states of consciousness in experience. As you bring this into you now, bring this also into all your circumstances. Bring it in in such a way that you feel freedom within you and you see freedom in people you connect with.

Maintain a level within you of energy to sustain your self, for we understand that many of you reach out to help others, in times when your self needs energy. You are combined in a great collection of people who are working, giving and taking within this great flow that occurs. As you maintain your conscious presence delivering energy to all around you, receiving it so that you can deliver it, you are reshaping and reforming events and experiences which are presented to you. Focus on a greater pattern of order being delivered within all states of experience.

There is a new level of livingness around you collectively. Many of you understand this and many of you are getting prepared for this new condition to live within. As you go about your life in expectation of this, it will manifest. There are many beings who have already the plans and the information to implement plans and with your expectation that this will happen in your lifetime, to define it for you, it will be there around you. In synchronicity with this, we are assisting you, helping you to exist in a state that is above the dense physicalness and many times you feel that you are living and walking above a level that you previously knew. Acknowledge this and you will see you then are able to move forward further with this, experiencing it more deeply.

There is a great supporting group around you here within this communication chamber addressing you in many ways, the words relate to something entirely different to what you are receiving. It is not necessary to hear the words through an entire transmission.

You will take the message in as it is delivered in a different way to you and it will have a meaning particular to you.

The change you are coming into, you will be realising that you have already been expressing a greater love and gratitude into many areas of your life and people. When this settles within you and rises up in these waves of change, you are enhancing many aspects of your self necessary for you to be coexisting with us and working in the way of elevating the groups of beings coming into these spaces for personal training and information purposes. You see already in your vision people you are mixing with, smiling upon them, greeting them with love, touching them, and you all become filled with a greater light that exists in this space, exists entirely around this planetary system and is that level that we have given to you before to make contact with.

The energy here you will see is pouring into different places within your Earth station again. Some of these spaces are high power energy sources and these are the ones that are allowing the release of pressure within the inner core of the Earth. As that occurs, many of the denser vibrations are able to be transmuted into higher levels. We do recognise in this process there is much released into your atmosphere that you breathe, so here it is that you need to consciously refresh your breathing pathways and refresh all of the tissues within your cells. You do this by taking in the specific light-energy of this matrix of light. You may see this descend over you. It strengthens the necessary chemical pathways within you - your body chemistry pathways with the interactions and reactions and responses which occur. Be specific in everything you draw into you, and wish to know.

Now, with you again consciously aware of this communication chamber, I accompany you back to the gateway which you move through to return to your body form.

I leave you at this point. The transmission this day will have brought to you a new reconnection to the elements of change and the procedures occurring.

Thank you Beloved.

Orem out"

Lani amongst you again here. Thank you Orem for this, and I connect again with you.

As we come back to Earth I have the sense again that there are many aspects of each one of us being reconnected, strengthened again and we merge with all these to bring them back as a solid unit again into this body form that we know here. We are given the energy to support that. We are given the energy to identify with the highest aspect that is the energy form. The sense is that we have been working on many layers and levels between these gatherings. Now as you reconnect to your physical form and life, I am filled with gratitude for these journeys.

I now close this transmission through the Omega Communications portal. Thank you.

Lani
