Issue 526
Date: May 06, 2010
Time: Thursday evening 8 pm

We have travelled much and we have travelled on far journeys together. This time, this meeting, it is as if everything is coming around you here where you sit, so be conscious of a shift in the energy field around you as an individual, opening you to understand that within the universe there is the experience and the opportunity right where you are to expand into what the universe is. This time, with that expansion you are already received in the greeting chamber within the great vessel of light. Be aware that you are in your greatest light energy self here, present, already aware of the change and already expecting the inflow of the transmission.

"We are with you here. We are present in your space and we envelop you within this receiving area. Orem addressing you and bringing you to attention.

In the greeting you are uplifted.

You are touched with the vibration that is specific for you to make sure that you are correctly attuned to the pattern of the energy systems that are presented to you and which are given to you in such a way that you are drawn forward directly into a space where you hear clearly all that you need to hear and you receive in every aspect of you the current information.

It will be current for the moment that you receive this particular transmission, which means, if you re-listen to this or reread it at some time in months ahead of you it will still be current. The energy is present everywhere and this serves to hook you into the particular pattern and it is you who draws forth the message and the energy to correctly identify the aspects of you in your consciousness that will benefit by adjustment or alteration in any way that will bring you deeper and further into your space within the universe. The universe is all that you are expanding into and realising.

We see with the deliverance of the energy of this aspect of the transmission you have risen into a space where you have become separated in a sense from different elements of your physical body structure, and as such you will identify different segments, particularly within your supporting spinal energy system. It is here that you would see a reflection of different spaces within that operating in a different way. If you perceive this to the extent that we are showing you, you may understand that certain segments are spinning in a different way to other segments within the same pattern of light and the opposite spin generates more specific information and space for energy to travel further within you.

We are referring to this as a very mechanical structure. Around that of course is what you might say a spatial difference in the sense that the energy is being recharged and moved and it is coming in around you from a different element of your life experiences - a different time - and everything is pouring into you now to make sure that you are geared for the deliverance of an energy system that you have been waiting for. This is putting you into a different motion and you have been sensing the change in the energy and at times you have sensed you have come to a point where everything appears to be motionless and you move into that state within you to a point of stillness. In that state what is presented to you is a different aspect of the greater world you are expressing yourself in. You may then see that many people that you know may appear as strangers and you have difficulty identifying them. This is because your energy systems have changed from some of these other people and when you are in a higher level of existence, you are identified as an energy pattern, not as a named being. In that level there is the appearance of a name because the energy pattern forms itself into a symbol.

Now, bringing all this information into you also identifies a pattern within you where you can observe yourself as an energy system and beingness in a different way to the personality which has a name.

We draw this aspect of you together into another place within this vessel of light and you are held within an opening. The position here means that others are able to come forward greeting you. In particular, those ones that are the Star Elders."

"We are with you indeed and we observe the change in your elemental structure - a change that has been revealed to you as freedom from certain life experiences you have had and allowing you to travel to receive more communication into dimensional changes and spaces and livingness directly affecting you in your present existence and pattern of Earth. You will observe these different aspects from time to time when you open your awareness in whatever activity you are engaged in.

Allow the glimpses to come to you and experiences of operating in a different way and this is because the reality you are focused into has shifted to allow the expansion to observe the different pattern being activated and allowed to move in within you and around you. This activation we refer to is that which you are engaged within the service, collectively, with all that we work together to manifest in this part of your manifested universe, in this part of your Earth station.

What you see happening physically within the planetary structure you feel and what is being released with the shifting of the Earth will need to be processed by those of you existing in the Earth. You process this by continually drawing upon the stream of energy information to come within you. This energy information is described to you as the universal matrix. This contains a projection of places for you to be within. It is also depicting the precise energy patterns for you to focus within, thereby creating a stable formation to enable you to absorb the higher frequency and to bring it through into the Earth space. We are with you in this that we describe to you. It is settling through you in this moment into the Earth station.

There is indeed a gathering together of many support systems in a very physical way, yet the supporting elements are non-physical in your description, just as you would say that as this being speaking to you, I am non-physical and yet I am very real and the energy you sense and see and understand in your own interpretation. So the support systems are very strong and will be visible to you at certain necessary moments for you to accept the assistance or to move in and support others within the great field of energy that you are aware of.

All this is in place within you, and we deliver you unto Commander Orem again at this moment. We touch you in an expression of joy."

"Orem speaking to you again here, gathering you into one great sphere of light once more. It is in here that there is the sharing of the consciousness, in the sense of sharing one mind, one communication, one existence. This is a very powerful state of experience and within this, because of your locations around the planetary station, you are encompassing it all. There are still elements of energy coming in, touching different areas of the earth where these great releases of energy occur. With it there are present many supporting energy systems. When you acknowledge that, you will understand that all people who are disturbed by actions around the Earth will all be assisted. Your intention when you focus into those spaces will therefore be that the assistance be recognised and accepted.

As we speak to you in this way, be aware that where your physical form unit is, is within the energy sensing of many of the vessels of light present. You are presently within particular vessels. Allow yourself to sense that you are present with certain beings in rooms, in spaces, in activities and most of all experiencing the joy there is in sharing all of the energy information available.

Draw this into you wherever you are present in your elemental light form and I draw you back again to the communication chamber. This means that you are moving layer by layer, preparing to move back to the Earth system. Indeed I release you as such to allow you to integrate what you have received and to be present within the chamber of greeting, the initial receiving area.

It is here that I say you are supported and enfolded in love.

Orem out"

Lani with you now dear one. Be conscious that you now must come back to your body form. I see where the attention has been drawn out into different spaces, and a different life and some of that higher living existence in those life patterns will come back with you for you to implement in your present circumstances. Remember that whatever you see and focus on, you are creating. Most of all there is the balance within you and around you that you are creating.

Orem I thank you and the Star Elders for this information and experience.

I now close the Omega Communications portal at this time. Thank you for being in this transmission, and be firmly connected into your earth body and into the energy sphere that exists beneath your feet as part of the Earth system.

When you are ready, open your eyes.

Lani
