Date: June 03, 2010
Time: Thursday evening, 8 pm

I welcome you to this message this night. I welcome you as you, the great entity, ready again to come together with others, both to learn and to share your energy and to link in to the greater universal consciousness, to be present and to offer yourself - your beingness - your love, to the universe.

Come with me as I lead you toward the light that we recognise as the meeting space, the entranceway, to the level of consciousness and the gathering space that we begin to enter as we move into the vessel of light. This is where we connect in more clearly as a group than when we link in singly. You may sense the movement. You may sense movement within you as you consciously move forward, as if you are being drawn forward by an energy system and there is a particular space just for you to link in to here. Everyone stands in a spot that is in harmony with you. You feel immediately when you are positioned correctly. You feel it as warmth, or you may feel it as a strengthening and realigning of you. It is the right place for you to be within.

"As you settle into this space, I come forward and greet you. Orem speaking to you this night and I come to continue the energy messages to you, some of which trigger within you great memories, and some of which give you an indication of your pathway and where it has led you, and some of the energy messages given to you also will allow you to come into a greater sense of your worthiness and what you are achieving.

Many things speak to you within these transmissions and this is so because it is you who brings forth the particular words and the particular places within the message which give you pause to ponder and to realise that you have embarked consciously in this new way of livingness for you.

It is as if you flow out into the life around you and perform your active daily activities and then you come into an inner space such as this, and when you go within to the deeper core essence of your being, you connect into the same energy systems, because this is the way the universe presents itself to you. This is the infinite energy that delivers to you the openings within your consciousness fields and the openings are presented to you as greater portals and gateways and even transition areas where you can be transported into different aspects of yourself and different aspects of the universe.

This introduction of course adjusts your energy frequency to be in harmony with what we are able to bring forth to you and now we can draw you deeper within to the communication level itself. This meeting chamber where we draw you into, also serves to encompass you in a layer of energy systems where your particular energy field is assessed. It is analysed and can be treated and infused with the energy that allows you to breathe clearly an understanding, breathing not of the air that you take in, but breathing in the atmosphere and sensations that you are surrounded with here.

You will have come to realise the importance of becoming attuned to the vibrations of the universe that come to you, for they present messages to you. They come in the form of dreams and they come in the form of patterns reflected in the dream state and they come in the form of the music and codes that are written that represent vibrations. They are all manifestations of the changing in the energy systems around you. What we present to you here also removes much of the trapped information that needs to be released, taken from you in a sense, and leaving you open to a greater information and light which comes through these transmissions, giving you messages in a way that you have also come to realise has a greater impact upon you than merely listening to words. This is transformational energy and in a way this is what you and your great intelligence needs to receive.

We slow the transmission at this time so you can perceive the shift in energy occurring through you. There are different aspects of you around your form that can identify the pattern of vibration passed to you here, so you may become aware of sensations that you are experiencing. Be very still and relaxed and the sensations, as they flow into you, pass the barrier of learned information and are received and transformed in a sensory way where you will realise that is a process occurring that takes the energy within you and if you could follow the detail of this, you would see the energy activating aspects throughout your energy system that overlay many of the functions of your energy body, many of the chemical functions, and the interchange that occurs between different layers and aspects of your cells. Information is being presented to the intelligence of the cells and some of those will be bringing forth a response and you are being turned and returned in response to the energy. Open your consciousness further and you will feel your whole body system is turning.

You will feel also that there is an aspect of the Earth that is turning, following almost a stream of impulsed energy coming forward. This comes forward and you are receiving this fully in your retunement, and allow yourself to rise up into this flowing energy beam. You are supported in this. There is part of you recognising what is happening and there are many beings with you also in this beam of energy. Each being is lifted into this space, receiving input and then released, so the beam draws up different beings and different animals also and the energy also assesses each being to see how much is being achieved in the transition process, and then it is seen what else is needed to be given to you each.

As you have continued in the space between transmissions in your life pattern, there have been shifts and changes. There have been times when some of you have observed particular lights within your major sensory organ beyond your physical sight and yet it is vision that you receive and see. Others of you have felt this as a vibration that passed across you from one side to the other. It is the representation of the same energy field that you were exposed to.

The pattern of the Earth is exposed to this same energy frequency and as it passes by, different ones are picked up, as we have depicted to you in this transmission, exposed to the beam of energy system. Through this, some of you have realised you have achieved a state of beingness already that you have been working upon and this can be in terms of personal health conditions or in terms of creations, in terms of knowledge you have been trying to understand and in terms of changing a pattern of life for the improvement and upliftment.

When you do have the realisation that the energy has already been received by you and has made the change, then it is that you are shifted to a different state of beingness and this shifts you to be more in contact with the energy cities of light. It is all connected, everything that has been in the transmissions to you and has been presented to the Earth as a whole in its consciousness is coming into beingness as each of you responds to the energy and accepts it and moves forward in a great anticipation, welcoming the evolving process, being grateful for the opportunity to become conscious of what is occurring in this interchange of universal energies.

We are embraced at this point with the over-lighting energy of the Star Elders."

"Indeed, what is upon you in this upliftment you will find to be refreshing you and moving deeply in your energy centres to the centre of your being as such, and in this space, in this great receiving chamber of you in your central core, you are filled with what we are able to introduce you to from the perspective of the new aspect of the universe that you are experiencing and there is a great transposition process already engaged in the structure of the Earth, where it is being exposed to the same frequency which we term the greater matrix for you to comprehend that it contains a great holism of what the universe is. There are many, many processes that represent what we bring to you and there are the ones already within the Earth system who are working with this same energy system of the matrix and they are seeing it occur. There has been the exposure of some of your great scientific minds combined with the greater energy mind forms who move into realms beyond the written word, also coming together in this creative process and there is the matching of what is being created on Earth with the great energy matrix that we expose you to in this level of receptivity that you have attained.

It is a bringing together of both systems in Oneness and this will be releasing within the consciousness of all minds on Earth - because you share one consciousness system, and when this occurs this is the change that ignites within you all the perception of where you are in this great system of existence.

We have exposed you to sufficient of this energy and at this time we bring you back to the communication chamber and Orem, for what we presented to you goes beyond your mind and you may be attempting to analyse it, but allow the essence of it to be within you. The process of immersion means you are receiving it.

We withdraw from you at this time."

"Orem gathering you back together to the communication chamber here. Again, we perceive the great energy matrix that you hold as an individual within your energy system.

This is a state you might say of entrainment and you become filled with the information that you will find that you are releasing into your worldly experience.

As I bring you back to the receiving chamber of this energy system, allow the focus to come back to gently acknowledge that energy sphere above you. Allow your mind to be relaxed because you will feel the passage through you in different layers. It is here that I leave you, but you are embraced in the nurturing energy in this field and presence. Thank you Beloved.

Orem out "

Lani with you again now and I must make sure that you are brought back to your body in such a way that you are firmly aligned. You may feel as if you have been stretched. Become aware that you now need to move to reconnect fully with all aspects of your life. In a way this connects from where you are presently in your day measurement right back through your life pattern to your birth of this present life. This is the power of the energy that was given to you. It will take you back to that entry point where you may observe that you look out onto the beginning of a new life that has brought you to the moment where you have received this transmission. There is a greatness to be realised in that, for you are changing your life from this point now and across time and dimension in every way.

Thank you Orem and the Star Elder for your presence and for this transmission. We will take it in and work with it and reconnect with it.

I now close the Omega Communications portal. Be fully grounded and be clear in your mind, emotions and body. Thank you. Thank you. Thank you.

Lani
