As I open the Omega Communications portal for you to link with, I bring with me Light, which is an energy, which you respond to. Your particular energy system and light body feels it and responds to it. So, come with me, allowing yourself to be free from the physical plane for a time, and we move into the awareness of the receiving area. This transition space is always ready to receive you.

"Greetings to you dear one. Orem speaking and I come forward immediately in response to your presence. Each time you consciously move into this transition area we are aware of your need and we come to support you. We also come to assist you in your own realisation of your place in the universe and how you have become linked into the energy system, the overlaying energy system, that is the universal matrix.

We will be referring to this more frequently now as it is important and you have realised that when you contact this state of consciousness you receive a greater sense of upliftment and relief from whatever has been concerning you up to that point and this also strengthens your inner balance as you connect to your point of origin.

We remind you of this initially in this greeting and you are thus prepared to move in, as an expanded group, to the communication space.

Here you will be able to understand there is activity in many places around the Earth station grid. This grid we refer to is external to the planetary surface and it penetrates throughout. It is a flexible grid. It carries information and energy systems through which there is the unfolding of more intersections of what you understand as time. There are connections moving through in accordance with the amount of information and resonance that each person has already. We in particular refer to those of you gathered here in this space.

To be in this space you have already recognised that you are needed and are working in specific ways relevant to the upliftment of consciousness and the transition from the space that Earth is in now as a system to the better equipped space and systems to sustain life in a highly developed sense - a wholly supported system - and a style that takes on the abilities and consciousness set of enlightened systems. So that what you have recognised within you that responds to a greater sense of unity and support allows you to be receiving these transmissions and it allows you to move individually into the intersections that we referred to as time - this is only to give you a point of reference, for when you move into that intersection you are free to respond to the frequency that comes to you from the highest point.

So, if you are connecting into a state of resonance that draws you in to the cities of light - that is what you will perceive in this transmission. If it also resonates to you that draws you into another operating system separate from the Earth, that is what you will perceive. In all states of consciousness you will be existing and you will be processing the energy field that you are drawn into.

Ultimately, all will connect, drawing the Earth into a more advanced system and when you take this into all of your senses and you bring it back into the Earth station, then you will see that transformation occurs and apart from that, if there are aspects of the existing civilisation on Earth that are not able to be transformed and uplifted, then initiated is the other planning network of stations where people will be drawn into to exist temporarily and there will be relocation systems effected.

For now, what you need to be focused on presently is to fully absorb the energy that expands around you. You become a great conduit and you will be sensing this. In your expansion into this energy field you will feel that you are opened in a way that you were anticipating and have been calling upon to realise and to be effected within you.

This would take you back to what was presented to you prior to your present birth time.

There was the information given to you that you were expecting to move into this state of consciousness now. The reconnection of this means that your life will be oriented in a different way and you will be drawing all of your present life pattern into this higher resonance. This is a way of reinforcing the energy matrix within you and around you and bypasses many of the diversionary experiences that were built up on planet Earth.

We have always worked with you to reinstate the pure element of life as it was expressed for the creation of Earth and for you to exist on it in a state of experiencing creation and fulfilling that creation in accordance with a great synchronised system throughout a vast level of universes created, all in harmony with another. Some of you will have known this as a great galactic supporting system - community - and the Earth generally had been absent from that.
