RECONNECTING TO YOUR BLUEPRINT

Invitation

To be in a field of energy with others willing to participate in moving forward.

Sharing our realisations of this and assisting each other to go beyond what we think we know now.

A simple yet great sharing.

To be in the energy without pre-conceived thoughts.

To be open to receive the Universal Blueprint.

Energy Blueprint

There is an Energy Blueprint for each person which needs to connect into Creation Blueprint in various dimensions but in this experience, the blueprint for Earth.

As we are now we are not fully connected to the blueprint due to various dis-positions.

When we become aware of this it becomes an imperative to reconnect ourselves to the blueprint. In so doing we will find others come into our field of contact for their reconnection.

Issue 447 - September 04, 2008

It is wholly part of your existence, the whole part of your existence, that we are connecting in to this energy of Source once more, to present this blueprint of your existence here. Feel it as if you are being reconnected into this blueprint and all its codes that are vital to your existence here. This is presented to you at this connective point in your journey as you move through the change. With the Earth vibration changing, many people are not aware that they need to seek out this greater pattern for their life, so here it is presented to you as this blueprint. Absorb it. Step into this as if it is a living framework that you expect will be feeding you in many layers and levels.

Issue 455 - October 30, 2008

You have come to disregard alternative ways that would lead you ultimately to a closing down of your light systems. You have chosen instead to respond to the light energy information. Some of this received in this information will have directed you to particular people and elements on Earth to assist your creation and recreation in balance and harmony, but everything that you do so choose now from this moment, must be in accordance with the greater blueprint as has been issued forth to you. This is a directive which in a sense has been implanted in your DNA coding and frequency patterns. Some of you have always responded to this and some of you have come to discern this to be the way that has brought you out of a combination of circumstances and people into redefining who you are and recognising who you are. This is important to you. It is also important to the greater blueprint of creation and to all of those in the collective greater consciousness of life that calls you forth and collects you to be part of this ultimate upliftment programme.

Issue 481 - May 28, 2009

Constant attention is needed through you and around you to ensure that you are fully connected into the blueprint pattern and the light for you.

Keep moving forward connecting to the great blueprint and the portals of light energy information.

Issue 483 - June 11, 2009

We open the gateway for you to experience a depth of connection here and continue the phase that allows you to gather in with you many others who identify with you the realisation of the greater universe and that you are here to connect with that universe and to align yourself correctly in the connection. When this is done, the universe speaks to you and moves you in such a way that drawn from you are responses which identify your position and your movement throughout the current streams of energy that you experience. In this phase you are continuing to be in a holding pattern waiting for those who are required to be with you also to connect. Keep exposing yourself to this level that you are receiving here and you will know the sensation of this. It will appear to you as those linkages of star systems and energy lights around your physicality in the energy form that expands beyond the framework of your physical unit. We address all aspects of you in this transmission and we do advise you that as you continue to present yourselves to this level you are communicating this to the greater field of consciousness existing within the mass consciousness level.

You would feel also at this point that there are more dimensions to unfold around you, before you, exposing you to more of the relevance of this work.

... this energy will enliven more of your cells and activate more of the codes contained within your blueprint. We hold you in the particular vibration in this moment to assist this process for the merging and the trust that is necessary for this so that you can participate on a deeper level within the greater blueprint of life.

Remember your Connection.
